

Enoch Lumande: A Missionary Called to Unite the Church and Transform Communities

For over a decade, I, Enoch Lumande, have committed my life to the mission field with one unshakable desire: to see lives, churches, and nations transformed by the love and power of God. My ministry spans across churches, communities, and borders—but at the core, it's about connection, discipleship, and unity in Christ.

The Meaning Behind Windsor Royalties

“Windsor” is a word that symbolizes royalty, dignity, and noble identity. It reminds us that through Christ, we are not just survivors—we are sons and daughters of the King. Windsor Royalties is a movement that seeks to awaken the royal identity in young people and leaders across Africa.

> Windsor Royalties means raising a generation who know they belong to God, who carry themselves with spiritual authority, and who walk boldly as kingdom ambassadors.

Our name is our message: you are royalty because you are God's.

The Heart of Windsor Royalties

While our base is in local communities like Windsor East and Sophiatown, our vision stretches far beyond the boundaries of South Africa. Our heart beats for a continent-wide awakening—a united, growing Church in Africa.

We believe it's time for formal and informal pastors to come together, not in isolation but in unity, to build networks of impact for the next generation.

> Our mission is simple: to connect churches and pastors to work together for the sake of this generation—to help them find God, discover His love, and walk in their God-given identity.

How We Do It

We carry out this mission through:

Discipleship programs in local communities

Youth development camps and events

Church networking and pastoral collaboration

Community outreaches and partnerships

Training and leadership growth opportunities

We believe in the power of communication, collaboration, and consistency. These three values shape how we work and build long-lasting transformation in every community we touch.

My Ministry Journey

I have served faithfully in several churches, including:

Rosebank Union Church

Ferndale Bible Church

Currently, I am working closely in Windsor East and Sophiatown, where I lead youth programs, build bridges among pastors, and empower local leaders.

I'm also pursuing my theology studies, continuing to equip myself for the work ahead. I believe every missionary should be a lifelong student—humble, teachable, and grounded in truth.

The Bigger Vision

My dream is not limited to Johannesburg. I envision Windsor Royalties expanding across the African continent, beginning with Congo—my home—and moving into the nations. I long to see:

Churches united and strong

Youth living in purpose

A continent that recognizes its royal identity in Christ

A Personal Note

I am married to Esther, my sunshine and partner in this mission. Her support, love, and strength help carry the weight of this calling, and together, we walk boldly toward what God has in store.

Join the Movement

If you believe in unity, transformation, and kingdom identity—Windsor Royalties is something you can be part of. Let's change Africa, one life and one church at a time.
